A TRACT on Acabee, one of the moſt beautiful ſituated country ſeats in this province, not more than ſeven miles from Charles-Town by land, and about the ſame diſtance by water. The whole contains 400 acres, three hundred of which are in oak and pine wood, the reſt in paſture under fence. The dwelling houſe on it is of brick, with a large hall and parlour on the ground floor, and a paſſage and ſtairs in an entry between both; there are four bed-chambers above them, excluſive of the garret, which has two unfiniſhed rooms. The cellar is very convenient for a kitchen, being built and uſed for that purpoſe. On the ſouth part of the houſe is a new piazza, which overlooks an unimproved garden, quite down to the delightful river on which the whole is ſituated. Oppoſite to the houſe and garden the river is computed to be upwards of a mile wide, and abounds with a variety of fiſh, oyſters, &c. As there is a plenty of wood, bricks may be made to advantage, and thoſe at the landing will ſufficiently recommend the quality of the clay. Vaſt quantities of lime may likewiſe be burnt, the ſhell banks being very contiguous to the landings, and the wood not far to cart. The wild indico, which is of ſpontaneous growth, here flouriſhes luxuriantly.

This Tract contains 400 acres, and is well adapted for the culture of indico, corn, &c. about 70 acres has been cleared and planted with indico ſome years ago, and yielded profitably, but the low price which the firſt quality ſold for at that time, was the reaſon of its being ſoon after broke up as an indico plantation, and has been ever ſince lying uncultivated. On it is a tolerable plantation houſe. A great part of this tract is in wood of oak, hickory, and pine, and affords good coopers ſtuff for any of the adjacent rice plantations. It's diſtance from the landing at Friend-Town, ſcarce exceeds two miles.

If the above lands are not ſold by the firſt of March next, they will then be LEASED out in ſmall tracts for any term of years not exceeding five. In the mean time, any chuſing to purchaſe, may treat in Charles-Town, with

From the GAZETTEER.

THE Romans preserved their liberty, till the love of luxury had spread itself through every order of state, and till dissipation had rooted every public principle out of their breasts. The pestilential rage for pleasure begot extravagance, poverty--the want of virtue rendered the high and low ready to adopt any measures to purchase the means of restoring their gratifications, though at the price of their country's freedom---their country's happiness. The ambitious availed themselves of their necessities, and of their universal depravity, and fed their insatiable appetites, to gain the power they aimed at. The most absolute monarchy was erected through the venality of the people---and yet all the ancient forms of freedom were preserved. The Consuls--Prætors --Tribunes, continued to parade in Rome--and the Senate assembly regularly, as in the time of its glory. But the Consuls, Senate, &c. met, only to confirm the arbitrary oppressions of the Emperor, and decree servile applauses for the most tyrannic acts of power.

The venality of our electors, and of the majority of our Parliament, prove that this nation is ripe for destruction. Patriotism is made a butt for ridicule. Those are laughed at who stand forward in the cause of liberty--and the idea of a free representation is considered as an Utopian scheme, as the Chimæra of a distempered brain. To barter one's abilities for lucrative offices (though at the price of supporting an unprincipled, ignorant, arbitrary, dispicable Ministry, in its attempts to enslave and ruin us) is thought a justifiable use of talents, and that the opposite conduct would be to qualify the patriot for Bedlam.--Lord Suffolk and Mr. Wedderburne are spoke to by men of character!--The being abandoned--void of every sense of honour--destitute of shame--and callous to every feeling of a gentleman, are the strongest recommendations at St. James's, and the best grounded pleas for obtaining power and riches!--and to purchase, what? An undue influence in Parliament. For what purpose? To shield the Ministry from danger. To enable a set of worthless slaves to overturn a Constitution, the work of ages, and the admiration of the universe!

A King of England is fond of pageantry, loves grandeur, is gratified by being flattered. I affirm that such a King defeats his own purpose, if he aims at being despotic. Is not a King courted by Foreign Powers, in proportion to the figure his kingdom makes in the eye of the world? If a King is fond of praise, is it not more flatteringly delightful, as well as more glorious, to receive it from the universal acclamations and addresses of a whole people, in whose hearts he governs, than from a few interested courtiers, while the body of the nation execrate his measures? A King of England, who wishes to take advantage of the profligacy of his people, and to make a venal Parliament the engine to erect monarchy on the ruins of freedom, will in his own destruction, meet with his reward.

A King of England can never wish to set up any authority above the laws, unless he is anxious to govern contrary to their spirit. While he has nothing at heart but the welfare and dignity of his kingdoms, the laws are no obstacles to his desire. They are a sanction to his measure. They assert his power. When he espouses the privileges of any body of men, as being superior to their force, he discovers his wishes to establish the fluctuating resolutions of a venal majority, above the known, unalterable bulwork of our liberty. No motive can actuate such a King, in such a conduct, but the pitiful desire of being absolute, and throw laws a side that interfere between him and his childish bauble.

We will suppose the so much desired plan accomplished. Britain, no longer free. The will of the Minister is the only law. The only use of the Parliament is, to approve actions---vote him money--and to present him with its privileges to overturn Magna Charta.

Why then I will assert, that the epochs, which dates us slaves, will mark us cowards. The sons of Britain will no longer press forward with generous ardour in the field, or on the ocean, when they no longer can return from their victories into the bosom of independant liberty. Men, who wanted spirit to make a terrible example of tyrants, and who could submit to bow their necks to the slavish yoke of tories, would never have courage to face an enemy, or feel any sentiment to stimulate them to maintain the renown our name acquired, while freedom kindled the flame which made them burn with the love of conquest, and a contempt of death. Cowards in their children's cause, after submitting to arbitrary power while they had life to weild the sword, and after having preferred breathing during the caprice of a tyrant, to bleeding the last drop of their blood in defence of their country's right, they will be indifferent who are their masters---and would even feel a pleasing revenge in surrendering a King to a foreign yoke, who could prefer being tyrant of slaves to the beloved Monarch of the affectionate freemen.

Property, and liberty, no longer secured by known laws, adieu to industry, adieu to commerce; and with these, adieu to our naval superiority. The manufacturer will no longer work early and late, when his wages are no longer insured to be his property, and his back is liable to the lash of despotism. The merchant will not have goods to traffic with, and he will be no longer anxious to amass riches, to fill the pockets of ministers. His ships will be at the mercy of foreign enemies---and the state, deprived of the sinews of war, and our fleets and armies of courage---we become an easy prey to the continent, and a province of France. In obtaining unlawful power, the foolish King of England who established it, would most infallibly become tributary to France, and despised by foreign kingdoms, in proportion as he was hated and abhorred by his own.

From wishing to be a King, independent of the laws, and overruling their power, he would sink into the mere petty governor of a province; and he would hold the government of the province of England, only during the pleasure of France--a nation, who, while Britain was free, had their ports blocked up by our fleets, and were defeated wherever we fought them. Such would be the change! And, to this change, we are making very quick approaches!

BRUNSWICK.

From the PUBLIC LEDGER.

NOTWITHSTANDING I am hourly convinced, that it is in vain to seek for a meaning where the conduct of Administration is the question, yet I cannot forbear endeavouring to inform myself why, at this busy, this important period, our Parliament, instead of assembling, has been prorogued beyond the stated time. Are we to conclude that all the dangers with which we are threatened are chimerical, and our reports of national transactions wholly groundless; or must we flatter ourselves that Administration have resolved merely to amuse us through the course of the next winter, though at the expence of their own reputation, and the expence of the public interest? It is no difficult matter to impose upon the wisest Member of the Community now and then, but it is next to an impossibility to render it general: Common Sense is a stubborn standard, yet it is a standard that the bulk of the People are possessed of, and to which they will most assuredly bring the actions of their superiors sooner or later. Situation and fortune may dazzle, and procure reverence for an hour, but when it is recollected from whence this dignity is derived, and that there is a price due to it, we at length begin to look into the character of the man, and rate his consequence accordingly.

The Taxes in England are weighty, and it is but natural that we should inform on what account they are sustained. If we are to receive protection in exchange for our levies, if we are to support the great Officers of the Kingdom, and to pay their salaries [illegible] the fruits of our labour, it is most undeniable that [illegible] do their utmost for our interest, and not take our [illegible] out shewing some little solicitude for the advancement [illegible] public prosperity.

[illegible] one of those who wish to pull down distinctions, or [illegible] exaltations; but I am for all parts of the Community feeling their importance. If acting well in the situation we are cast in is meritorious, why shall we not expect the Prince, as well as the Plebeian, to prove his pretentions to merit.

We are continually alarmed with reports of a war, or mortified by unworthy impressions of the peace we enjoy; ought not these circumstances to be cleared up to our satisfaction? appearances are, it must be confessed, much against our wise Administrators, at the same time that disregard of our good or ill opinion, is by no means a recommendatory feature in their characters. There is a man now in Reading goal, that dares to accuse the first men in this kingdom with the most glaring crimes; letters on the subject, Mr. Printer, have already appeared in your Paper, the Government, nevertheless, neither silence him, nor design to enter upon their own exculpation. To be sure, according to the Court Creed, we have no grievances, nor is it in any degree reasonable, that our Remonstrances should be attended to. We are a capricious, a dissatisfied, a foolish People, and our Governors are wisdom and lenity itself. When I consider these things, I could almost fall in love with despotism; arbitrary and tyrannical as we are taught to believe it, it has however this advantage, it is the will of one man that is alone our law, and that the will of our Sovereign, instead of which in this our happy Monarchy, every little jack in office is the tyrant of the Public, and as he wills, so are we compelled to conformity.

The doctrine of non-resistance has been so long exploded in this country, that I do not wonder at the forbearing spirit of the times.----We complain, but if our complaints are disregarded, we sit down and conceive there is nothing more to be done. May this convenient disposition continue: Yet, indeed, does it appear to me, that we are in any danger of forfeiting it; for if the provocations we have already experienced are insufficient---exult ye Ministers, nor turn aside from your career, the way is open before you to plunder and to victory.

JOSHUA LOCKWOOD,

WATCH-MAKER,

INFORMS his Friends, that all Work now repaired in his Shop, is chiefly done by himself, which he has resolved upon, on Account of the late repeated Complaints.——As my Abilities are so well established, I hope to receive the further Favours of the Public, for which I hope they will please to accept a grateful Acknowledgment; nor shall I forget the speedy Vent of the greatest Part of my late Importation—these are Favours that must soon over-ballance the Loss sustained by the Non-Importation—these are Favours that must swell the honest Breast, and extort an Acknowledgment from the Ungrateful—they give Spirit to the Sad, and Treasure to the Unfortunate.

I have still a tolerable Assortment of Jewellery, small Plate, and hard Ware, especially Silver handled Knives and Forks, all of which are selling much lower than at first, in order to get out a fresh Assortment.

The 29th of January, a Gentleman brought a Watch, with my Name on the Dyal Plate, to have a Glass put in, and through Mistake, I gave him a wrong Case, which is too big for the Watch; I should be much obliged to him to return it as soon as possible, and receive his own. The Gentleman told me he brought it down for a Friend of his.

TWENTY POUNDS reward will be paid to any perſon, that will deliver him to me at St. Helena, or to the warden of the work-houſe in Charles-Town; alſo FIFTY POUNDS to whoever will prove his being harboured by a white perſon, and TEN POUNDS if by a negro.

A FINE LOT for Sale by private Contract,

THAT valuable LOT of LAND in Charles-Town, known or diſtinguiſhed in the plan or model thereof, by the No. 191, ſituated at the weſt end and on the north ſide of Tradd-ſtreet, between the houſes of Alexander Fraſer, Eſq; and the late Captain Thomas Elliott, deceaſed, containing in front on ſaid ſtreet, fifty-eight feet, eight inches, or thereabouts, with the advantage of a paſſage; and in depth one hundred and forty-three feet, or thereabouts; whereon is a BRICK HOUSE deſigned for kitchens or two tenements that were intended to be built, and will ſtill ſerve thoſe purpoſes. This Lot has a fine proſpect of Aſhley-River, and as the proprietor of the oppoſite lot may perhaps make his front on Friend-ſtreet to be uniform with the other houſes built at the ſouth end and weſt ſide of that ſtreet, with the garden running eaſt and weſt, there will be no obſtruction to the ſoutherly air from Aſhley-River, which muſt be very agreeable in the hot months, and may prevent the communication of any malignant diſtemper that may rage in the interior parts of the town, or contagion ariſing from noxious effluvia. Its vicinity alſo to ſeveral good landing places on Aſhley-River, particularly the Sugar-Houſe-Creek, where a public market will no doubt be ſoon eſtabliſhed, will greatly enhance the value of all lands in that part of the town; alſo being ſituated in an excellent neighbourhood of reputable inhabitants, renders it not only more eligible, but ſecure againſt the danger of fire; and being a vacant lot, the purchaſer will have the ſatisfaction of erecting buildings thereon according to his own taſte for pleaſure or profit; the area or ground plot admitting either of one large manſion houſe of twelve rooms, or to be divided into two tenements of ſix rooms each, with land ſufficient behind for a kitchen garden to each. And, as houſes in that airy and pleaſant part of the town are ſeldom or ever empty, it will afford a certain good income quarterly.

The purchaſer may have one, two, three, or four years credit, giving bond, with approved perſonal ſecurity, and paying the intereſt punctually every year, and if he chuſes it, one third or one fourth part of the principal will be received annually, by which inſtalments, the purchaſe money will be eaſily and inſenſibly ſunk.
